WHY ARE WE CALLED 172?

When volcanoes erupt, they make a loud noise. No explosion has ever matched the one that occurred in 1883 on the island of Krakatoa. The volcanic eruption there registered the loudest sound ever recorded on the planet.

The sound was so incredibly loud that it circled the earth four times and registered 172 on the decibel scale, which was recorded over 100 miles away.

Our goal? To become the loudest eruption to define the live music and elevated dining experience since Krakatoa.

WELCOME TO 172.
